Want to Be Part of Something Musical?

Music can be a lot of things: A fun group activity, an inspiration, a tool for building spiritual community, and more. Temple Bnai Israel wants to make more of that happen. We know of some of our musically inclined members, but we probably don't know all of you. If you want to be involved in music at the Temple, let us know! Thanks!

How Can I Help?

It was a particularly beautiful morning for mucking around in the dirt at the WAIM Community Garden in Lauter Park. The Tikkun Olam Committee came prepared. Our industrious band of volunteers from the temple were ready with shovels, gloves, and of course coffee and coffee cake. We pulled weeds and mulched like crazy. We like to help when we can, just like many of our volunteers at Temple Bnai Israel.

Did you know that volunteering has many personal benefits? It allows people to make a difference in their community and feel good about their contributions. Volunteering can provide opportunities to learn new skills or develop existing ones, such as leadership, communication, and teamwork. The skills I've gained from being Co-President at TBI are invaluable. Volunteering can help people build relationships and connect with others who share similar interests and values. These kinds of social connections have been shown to have a positive impact on mental health, reducing stress, anxiety, and depression. Volunteering allows people to feel that they are making a meaningful contribution to society and can help them find a sense of purpose.

Our Tikkun Olam Committee is only one of the many committees dedicated to making our synagogue and the world a better place. Jewish teachings emphasize the importance of helping those in need and contributing to society as a whole. Key Jewish values related to community service include:

- 1. Tzedakah: This refers to the obligation to give to those in need. It is considered a mitzvah, or a religious commandment, to donate money, goods, or time to help others.
- 2. Gemilut Hasadim: This is the act of performing kindness and good deeds. It is considered to be one of the most important Jewish values, as it promotes compassion and empathy towards others.
- 3. Tikkun Olam: This refers to the obligation to repair the world and make it a better place. It is often translated as "social justice," and encompasses a wide range of activities, including volunteering, advocacy, and philanthropy.
- 4. Chesed: This refers to acts of loving-kindness, which can take many forms, including volunteering, visiting the sick, and helping those who are in mourning.

If you haven't already, I encourage you to join in and help out. It's good for you and its good for everyone. If you are not sure and want to talk about your interests give me call or email me. I'm happy to explore the possibilities with you.

For the Temple, June is a month for looking back to the past year and forward to the next. Our Annual Meeting provides a 'secular' complement to the High Holidays for that purpose.

In that spirit, I'd like to first of all offer an enormous THANK YOU and YASHER KOACH to Peter Malinow as he concludes his three years as Temple president and co-president. Peter stepped in to the role at height of the pandemic; it was not an easy time to lead a congregation! And yet, Peter moved us forward. I particularly want to note what I think is one of Peter's most important successes: encouraging new, more shared, and younger leadership in the congregation. It's a trend he made a terrific start with and we'll flourish if we continue in that direction.

While I'm thanking Malinows, I also want to say THANK YOU and YASHER KOACH to Stephanie! As she and Peter take on some additional grandparental responsibilities this coming year, meaning more sustained trips to Wyoming, she's decided to retire from teaching our Jewish Explorations students. In Stephanie's first years teaching with us, she and Dara worked with me to refocus our curriculum, centering it on giving our children Jewish tools for human flourishing that would serve them throughout their lives. And she's been caring, diligent, and creative in fleshing that out. Most of all, she's loved the kids and they know it.

At the time I'm writing this, several initiatives are in process that will help us continue to expand and improve our ability to serve our children and their families. I believe that will also mean bringing more families into our Temple community. I expect we'll be able to say more at the Annual Meeting.

Finally, you'll be hearing about updating our Mission Statement, to better reflect (and present) who we are now, about a quarter century after we adopted our current statement. I believe that in the "Visioning Process" conversations, as well as conversations we had about who we are with our marketing consultant, Russ Benblatt, some definite core aspects of who we are and what we aspire to emerged. They include:

- the centrality of community – enjoying each other's company and caring for one another;
- valuing the diversity of our relationships to Judaism;
- we 'do Jewish' in various ways, including learning, spirituality, food, tikkun olam, music, and art;
- we recognize that those ways continue to evolve;
- we're participatory and democratic;
- and we value rabbinic leadership.
- As we say in the current mission statement, we still joyfully accept the challenge of the ancient teaching: "Do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with your God."

As of this writing, the Board is in conversation about whether to bring a proposal for a new Mission Statement to this Annual Meeting. You'll hear more soon.

JEWISH EXPLORATIONS

Morah Stephanie

“Above all, remember that you must build your life as if it were a work of art.”

I have thought a lot about the wisdom of these words. Written by Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel in the 20th century, they remind me that life should be examined periodically for its design and color, for its expression of our deepest values.

As I contemplate my retirement at the end of this school year, I am grateful for the support of Rav Jeremy and our families. My years as a teacher in the Jewish Explorations program have been deeply satisfying. I have worked hard to engage the children and have likewise been engaged myself in continuous Jewish learning.

As I plan the design and color of the next stage of my journey, it will continue to express my deepest values, but in new ways. I will miss the classroom, filled with youthful energy and constant questions, but I look forward to having more time to travel and to spend time with my family. My children and grandchildren are not without their own energy and engaging questions!

Get ready to energize, Temple Bnai Israel!

Our big weatherization campaign starts in July and we want you to be a part of this critical effort. We are receiving a grant from the Inter-Religious Ecojustice Network (IREJN) for $1000 to perform energy-saving upgrades to our synagogue building! Part of the expectation for this funding is getting our members to sign up for energy audits for their homes and learn how they can start saving money on their energy costs as well as protecting the planet. The program is available through the state of Connecticut's EnergizeCT effort and there are lots of incentives and rebates to help us do what needs to be done. Come to our kick-off event the afternoon of Sunday, July 16th – there will be lots of information, professionals to answer questions and the amazing Energy Mobile Van with lots of interactive exhibits for all ages! We are excited to have you on board!

In May, our community members met at the WAIM Community Garden to help out with various upkeep and, as always, really enjoyed our time working together and helping an essential organization in our community. Thank you to all the gardeners who joined in and to event organizer Peggy Beckett-Rinker!

We will let you know of important issues and events that come to us via our local branch of the NAACP, HIAS, and Dayenu organizations that we have a strong partnership with and whose missions align with the work we are focused on. Please reach out to me if you have any questions or concerns at jermerle@att.net.

COVENANT SOUP KITCHEN UPDATE

Bernice Freedman-Warnke

Thank you to everyone who took the time to donate food or money to the pantry. Your generosity is truly appreciated.

The areas of need have not changed very much and the best thing you can do is go online to the website and check the wish list. It is regularly updated but we currently have NO canned fruit, canned chicken or beef, or canned pasta meals. Feminine hygiene products are also in great demand. Anything you are able to contribute will go a long way in improving the lives of our clients. Donations can be brought to the door marked "CSK Deliveries" and Jacob will be happy to help you.

The latest news is that our kitchen manager, Jan, has retired after many years and our new manager Kevin has replaced her. He has big plans and high hopes for the operation. His background has been in country club restaurants and he wants to bring this level of cuisine to the Soup Kitchen. He hopes to serve fresh hot breakfasts in addition to the pastries and cereal currently being served. It is no small task serving 175 or more people well-balanced, nutritious, and attractive meals every day for lunch, but that's exactly what he's doing. The kitchen is becoming an even more finally tuned machine. As always, the support from the community is invaluable and our gratitude abounds. Again, thank you all!

You've never really lived until you've done something for someone who can never repay you.

CHEVRA KADISHA

After a Jew dies, a burial society, the Chevra Kadisha (literally, "holy society") prepares the body for interment. This process, called Taharah (purification), involves the ritual cleansing and subsequent dressing of the body, by men for males and by women for females, in preparation for burial. This requires training in the traditions and prescribed methods involved in traditional Jewish burials. This is a very personal and meaningful mitzvah we perform to support our fellow members.

We welcome anyone interested in joining us in this sacred work. Please contact Fran Jaffe (franjaffe@earthlink.net) or Ken Dardick (kdardick@gmail.com), Co-Chairs, or Rav Jeremy (ravjeremy@templebnaiisrael.org).
